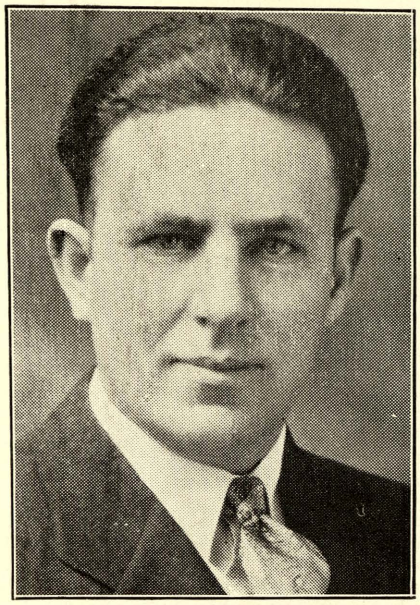
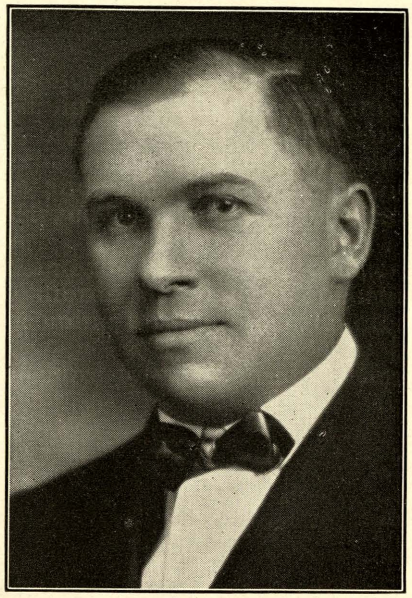
THE SOUTH INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL



MAURICE M. GUY, Principal



CHESTER F. MILLER, Superintendent

In this brief statement I first congratulate South on the fine record made this year.

The close of each school year means the loss of boys and girls who are leaders in school citizenship. They move on to high school and larger opportunities. Other boys and girls must now move up to take their places. The world would never improve if we just tried to fill another person's place. A successful person makes a place for himself. A high standard of scholarship, a fine record in school citizenship, a record in sportsmanship must not only be maintained but raised to increased efficiency. With your new building and added enrollment, you have all the people of Saginaw can provide to make South an outstanding school of the city.

Citizens demand a good return on their investments. I have assured them that the boys and girls of South School will give them returns beyond their fondest hopes. Knowing the girls and boys of South School, I do not believe Saginaw will be disappointed.

C. F. Miller

The year 1929-30 has been one of gowth for South School. This growth has occured both in the number of pupils enrolled and in building facilities. A splendid new addition to our building has been completed, furnishing twelve new rooms designed and furnished in accordance with modern school standards. But with our increased enrollment and our enlarged building the personal contact between a pupil and his teachers has not been lost. There are several factors which account for this.

First, we have the home room organization and the home room teacher. This is essentially a school within a school and affords the pupil an opportunity of being a member of a small group and becoming intimately acquainted with the home room teacher.

Then there are the class advisers, or counsellors for each grade. Here

Concluded on page 25.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editorial Staff

Elaine Heyn, Editor; Marie Simon, Marguerite Strutz, Adam Krentz, Marion Speace, Lydia Becker, Alice Black, Edna Cotton, Helen Simon William Le Roux, Albert Fahnahsteil, Ruth Chisholm.

The editorial staff of the S-I-S Boom has had a busy year, filled with a variety of duties. Doubtless, many of the things they discovered about publishing a newspaper were new to them. Just the same, they weathered the storms of collecting and organizing copy, and the support of the student body is proof that their work has been good.

Mechanical Staff

The mechanical staff is the crew that performs the mechanical operations connected with the production of the S-I-S Boom. It is composed of those students who are taking their third semester of printing.

The staff under the direction of Mr. Schmitz has shown considerable co-operation, and the members deserve much credit and praise for the work they have done.

Nine A Class Will

We, the 9A class of South Intermediate School, city of Saginaw, state of Michigan, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament. We hereby revoke all former wills made by us heretofore.

ITEM I

We, as a class, do proceed to devise and bequeath to our rightful heirs the following:

First— To the faculty we bequeath an unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams.

Second— We request that our memory as a brilliant class be ever kept green, and that the good deeds we have done be regularly retold that they may go down as shining examples to future classes. The president of this class is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a committee to collect and destroy all class records so we may go to high school as "A" students and there will be no way to disprove it.

NINE A BOYS

NINE B GROUP

Third— To the 9B's we leave our high marks as objects for them to shoot at during the coming semester.

Fourth— To posterity we bequeath one pad of excused absence slips.

Fifth— To Florence Lynch we leave one semester of loneliness.

Sixth— To the 6B's we leave any overlooked cuds of gum we may have left adhering to our desks.

Seventh— To Mr. Guy we leave our sincere affections and most hearty gratitude.

ITEM II

We, as individuals, do bequeath our peculiar talents or possessions as follows:

I, Rosemary Neuhaus, will to John Youmans my ability to compel the faculty to part with the A's which they cherish so fondly.

I, Edward Gruno, will my atheletic ability to Casper Echardt.

I, Loraine Myra Bauer, having among my priceless treasures an old algebra with all the answers written in and most of the problems worked out in detail, do bequeath it to Bernie Lange, advising him to pass it around freely to all who have trouble with their problems.

I, Bobby Gillespie, leave my naughty eyes to Jack Alderton.

I, Chester Fobear, bequeath my blush to Edward Krause.

We, Martha Stricker, and Frieda Felsing, leave our habits of roaming the halls to Imelda Paquette and Dorothy Maul.

I, Theodore Flack, entrust Molly Marr to Egnas Murin.

I, Russel Staffeld, bequeath my red and green polo shirts to Earl Lafferty.

I, Pierce Hiscock, and I, Wilbert Hiscock, leave to the 9B's one colony of trained flees, hoping that they will keep you busy if the teachers don't.

We do hereby constitute and appoint Mr. Vanderveer as our sole administrator.

Signed and sealed before me this 18th day of June in the year of our Lord 1930.

LESLIE WATERS,
Notary Public.

Why Wasn't This Lesson Prepared?

—"Why haven't you prepared your lesson, Thelma?"

Thelma— "Why, I didn't know we were to have that for today. You see, I wasn't here yesterday and I didn't know the assignment; and I tried to call somebody up, but the phone was out of order; and I lost my book, so I couldn't have prepared it if I had found out; and besides my mother was sick, so I didn't have time to study and I was going to ccme earyl this morning to find out from somebody, but the alarm didn't go off and the clock was slow; and when I did get here I asked some body, and they told me all wrong. And anyway I don't understand what we've been having very well." —Exchange.

Nine A Class Poem

By ETHEL ROBINSON

Our days at South are ended now.
We met here but to part,
To break the ties so dear to all,
That bind our every heart.
Down to Arthur Hill High School
We, all of us, must go
To make our way with others
And vanquish every foe.

Our youthful hopes are many,
Oh, may they be fulfilled,
When all our trials are over
And every doubt is stilled.
Then let us all look forward,
Yes, forward to the light
And dare to be our own true selves,
And dare to do the right.

Then let us not forget the school
Where we were taught so well,
But keep a corner in our hearts
Where treasured thoughts may dwell.
Nor yet forget each other,
For we love each other still
When we say good-bye to dear old South,
And enter Arthur Hill.

Just a Word of Farewell to

Miss Brock, who, after four years of very successful work as director of girls' physical education, is leaving South School to accept a position in the high school at Elmhurst, Ill. With her she takes the good will of all her classes and hearty thanks for work well done— and to Miss Gilling, our typewriting teacher, who is leaving to be married. In the very near future she will be Mrs. Edwin J. O'Brien of Flint, Michigan— and to Miss Barrer of the auditorium, who has just announced her decision not to return to South another year.

Our best wishes to all of them!

9A CLASS CALENDAR

By HELEN SIMON and ELAINE HEYN

JANUARY

We have accomplished a miracle: we have become 9A's, full-fledged and distinguished. It takes a real class to match us in ambition and diligence. January disappeared almost over night, and along came

FEBRUARY

We are kept so busy that we don't have time to be stuck-up over our positions as 9A's. However, the usual cases of puppy love have begun to be evident, and the atmcsphere just oozes sweetness. Blah!!

MARCH

Good weather for March. The 9A play, called "A Lucky Break," has been chosen. Lucky Break is right for the ones who manage to get parts.

APRIL

Spring is here for sure. Boys and girls take their exercise by running around the boulevard. It's time to organize our baseball and track teams. Sixth graders are unable to withstand the ravages of spring fever and much skipping results.

MAY

A queer month this year. Starts out as hot as summer and then nearly freezes us. However, our girls beat Central, and the class play was a success. We can't have everything until

JUNE

The world is our oyster. We have new caps, banquets, assemblies, honor pins, and annuals.

It doesn't seem right to have to say good-bye, but here it is!

GIRLS' GYM PROGRAM

There are about four hundred girls taking gym for an hour each day at South, and in the variety of sports in the program most of them can find something they like to do.

The fall program consists of volley ball, base ball, and horse shoes when the weather permits playing on the field. Rainy days force us back in the gym, and the best thing you hear is the umpire calling "Serve! — Point!"

In winter the interest changes to basket ball, and for three months that is all our girl athletes think about. The talk is all about the comparative merits of Catherine and Gladys for forwards and how that jumping center covers the floor. From all appearances, they would rather play basket ball than eat.

Spring takes us back on the "west forty" working our heads off on high jumping, broad jumping, and running, preparatory to the inter-school track meet. The work is being done now, for when the hot weather sets in, there will be a few with energy enough to toss horse shoes, but the majority will plead for a stroll to the park where they can spend a leisurely hour on a bench in the shade.

BOYS' GYM PROGRAM

Why An Inter-mural Program?

"Inter-mural— literally, within the walls," and in this case a program of sports which reaches not just the few athletes who have been singled out to represent the school in a competitive event, but the whole body of students who have sat so long on the side lines. The mass of students unable to make the school teams are here given a chance at athletic activities, not in the spirit of mortal combat but in the natural play spirit which is in itself an inspiration.

VOLLEY BALL TEAM

All boys like to throw a basket, hit a ball, swim a given distance, or out run a competitor. Boys love to do things which have a meaning. Formal exercise is better than nothing, but they easily become mechanical, and they have no social or moral value. If physical education means an exhibition on the part of a few, and artificial exercise for the rest, it has not attained its proper balance. Tennis, golf, horse shoe, etc. have a definite objective for boys, and not only that, they require skill and mental poise.

The trend today is toward the natural program. This program calls for only those activities which have meaning and call for social responses. It explodes the old idea of formal discipline. Discipline takes care of itself when the task is interesting enough.

Boys learn to win without boasting and to lose without malice. Perhaps the greatest value of the play ground is the moral and social one. One may preach honesty until the crack of doom and talk sportsmanship forever, but the situation must be met and lived thru before it is really learned.

The future of physical education in our schools depends upon general participation in games and activities by all the students; hence the great value of intermural programs. In a few years the girls and boys of today will take our places. To train them well is imperative. The education of a race is a big job. Let's give them all an equal chance thru a rationalized program of activity which will give pleasure now and promote health and social fitness in years to come. Let's build for permanence— physically, mentally, and socially.

GIRLS' INTER-MURALS

Inter-class games keep the girls interested in sports from early fall to late spring. Teams are organized in each home room and the games are played during the noon hour. Digestion is impared, but competition is keen. Twenty teams entered the volley ball tournament and two hundred girls took part in the games. Honors were won by the 7A9's, the 8B4s, and the 9A1's.

Interest in basket ball was especially strong this year, and most of the home rooms entered two teams in the tournament. This arrangement made it possible for more girls to play and each team had more games on the schedule. After three months of play the banners were awarded the 7B9's, the 8A's, and the 9B's.

Class teams have been organized in base ball but the winner will not be decided until late in June.

There are twenty girls working out in the gym each day with tennis racquets and balls preparing for the tennis tournament which starts the first of June. This is a comparatively new activity at South, but interest is growing and by the time the tennis court is completed there will be some expert players to use it.

Girls' Inter-School Sports

South School girls rank high in the city league in all sports. Do you remember way back in 1927 when Elizabeth Tech won five "firsts" in the track meet? Since then the girls have had another track championship, three volleyball championships, and two baseball championships. We have a right to be proud of them. It takes hard work to win a place on the team and hours of practice to play well, but South girls are not afraid to work and they have the will to win.

The Call of Baseball

By JAMES EDWARD HUNGERFORD

There's a happy kind of feeling
Comes into our hearts a-stealing
At this "peppy" time of year!
Kind of starts the blood a-stirring;
Sort of sets the pulses purring—
Makes us feel like we could cheer!
And of course you know the reason—
It is April, and the season
When ol' baseball time is here!

All our hearts have been a-pining
For the diamond, brightly shining,
And the bases, spick-an'-span!
For the sight of players drilling
Out—to make a season's "killing,"
For the glory of the clan!
Be we eighty years, or younger,
In our hearts we know the hunger
Of the baseball-loving man!

There is something mighty thrilling;
Soul-inspiring and heart-filling
When the "ball fans" congregate!
And the past, with annals tragic,
Seems to fade away like magic,
As we pass the ball-park gate!
As we hear that ringing call
Of the umpire gent; "Play ball!"—
And the "pill" speeds o'er the plate—
Oh, say, Fellers, "ain't it great?"

again is someone vitally interested in the individual pupil's welfare and who is constantly helping pupils in making adjustments and settling problems. The adviser remains with a group throughout the pupil's junior high school career. Pupils may go to advisers any time for advice or information.

Promotion by subject makes it possible for a pupil to have a special program fitting his individual needs. The different courses and the variety of electives together with our tryouts and exploratory work aid further in fitting the school to the pupil.

With such a program it is very easy for the individual pupil to be recognized as a separate individual with personal desires, aims, hopes, and problems.

CERTIFICATES RECEIVED

Certificates have been awarded to the students of Miss Gilling's typewriting classes who have passed a credential test.

In order to make this test the student must write for fifteen minutes with not more than five errors. Also ho must have a net of at least twenty five words per minute. This material the student has never seen before and is mailed from the typewriter company. For every error that is made ten points are deducted. Not so easy as it sounds.

The following students have made the credential test:

| Name | Net words per Min. | Errors |
|---|---|---|
| Elaine Heyn | 44 | 3 |
| Gertrude Dietrich | 37 | 3 |
| Dorothy Zieroff | 33 | 0 |
| Howard Hahn | 29 | 5 |
| Ann Zednicek | 28 | 2 |
| Louis Marienfeld | 28 | 1 |
| Henry Counselman | 27 | 5 |

The following students are a few of our accurate typists, having written on different occasions for fifteen minutes without any errors: Adam Krentz, Franklin Clements, Emma Spindler, Frederick Murray, Louis Marienfeld Ellen Roeser, Albert Miller, Helen Mossner.

Spring's Perfume

By ALICE ANN LORD, 6A2

This poem has been accepted and printed by "The Gleam," a magazine of verse written by school children in the United States.

A flash of blue, a joyous note,
A robin in the tree,
A bursting bud, a violet,
A spring-time melody.

A butterfly, a fresh green leaf,
A crocus shyly peeping,
A warm soft breeze, a clear blue sky,
Wake up! you flowers sleeping.

Spring

By BOB ALLEN, 6A2

Don't you love to be a-dreamin'.
And a-sittin' in the sun,
Happy 'long with other things
Knowin' spring has come?

Don't you love to be a-watchin'
Things come popping thru the ground
And a-wonderin' what they're goin' to be
When another month comes 'round?

Spring Fever

By PIERCE HISCOCK

In spring the urge comes on me
To sneak away and roam
The wide and travelled highways
Long distances from home.

I think of what my folks will do
When I have run away,
But when I think of what I'll eat,
I decide that I will stay.

Arbutus

By LORRAINE HURRY

The maiden Spring at last came north,
And at her touch the leaves came forth.
Her magic finger placed upon each drowsy tree,
Brown grasses turned to emerald green.
She came the pine woods trail to follow,
Where snow still lay in ditch and hollow,
The maiden Spring to earth bent down,
And swept aside the dead leaves brown;
Arbutus, bravely budding forth,
Fairest flower of the north!
